Interactive Report Help

Interactive reports enable end users to customize reports. Users can alter the layout of report data by selecting columns, applying filters, highlighting, and sorting. Users can also define breaks, aggregations, charts, group bys, and add their own computations. Users can also set up a subscription so that an HTML version of the report will be emailed to them at a designated interval. Users can create multiple variations of a report and save them as named reports, for either public or private viewing.

The sections that follow summarize ways you can customize an interactive report. To learn more, see Using Interactive Reports in Oracle APEX End User's Guide.

Search Bar

At the top of each report page is a search region. This region (or Search bar) provides the following features:

- Select columns icon enables you to identify which column to search (or all).
- Text area enables you to enter case insensitive search criteria (wildcard characters are implied).
- Go button executes the search. Hitting the Enter key will also execute the search when the cursor is in the search text area.
- Reports displays alternate default and saved private or public reports.
- Actions Menu enables you to customize a report. See the sections that follow.

Actions Menu

The Actions menu appears to the right of the Go button on the Search bar. Use this menu to customize an interactive report.
